

Antithesis

by cleaves Sunday, Jan 16 2005, 6:28am

international / social equality/unity / opinion/analysis

The slave trade is alive and well. Who would fight the wars of businessmen if slaves didn't exist? Who would work for Corporations for a pittance if slaves didn't exist? Who accepts disparity and inequality if not slaves.

Who then are these timid, cowardly cringers? Take a look in the mirror – that's who! Full of fear and retreating – you deserve what you get you gutless little zeros. Now think for a bit – if you are capable – who sits at the apex of social pyramids? Are they greater than you or just endowed with sewer rat cunning? You have no idea how frightened they are at the prospect that one day the slaves will wake up and tear down the pyramid hierarchies.

They are the tiny minorities around the world who harness slaves; not with whips and shackles of old, but misinformation, lies, false religions and tribalism; these are the means that create nothing more mysterious than division. You see, you gutless cowards – you are all the same worldwide. Slavery knows no racial, religious or tribal boundaries – whoever you are, wherever you are – you are the slaves of the world – and you make the chieftains puke.

It is with contempt that they send you to wars and to work in their mines, factories and Corporations – all for their profit. Yet you – the international slave – retreat constantly and do nothing but take it and love it. Has it occurred to you that you are all ONE and if you were not divided you would have your equality and freedom in an instant.

Who grows the food and maintains the power grids etc. – You! – you gutless wonders. While you're busy cleaning the toilets of the rich and doing all the menial work – have you ever stopped to think that all is dependant on you? Take a deep breath and realise that you are lions raised as sheep. Embrace each other and act – in unison or alone – boycott supply and watch it all grind to a halt. The rulers are soft and weak – they can't do anything but lie and lie and manipulate computer-voting systems – they have precious little real 'talent.'

Your destinies are either division (slavery) or unification (freedom) – there are no other alternatives – it all reduces to that simple formula. Why is it very seldom taken? Because it requires something you do not possess – and that is courage, fortitude, and will – you timid little turds; resign yourselves to your fate and keep on pretending that your shit sandwich is a banquet.

You make me want to puke; and yes, you've guessed it, I was one of them – I'm just giving it to you where you love it most – enjoy yourselves – you shit eaters.

You are DIVIDED