THE SCRIBE and Men

Thoth the Ibis-head records with stylus-reed on papyrus the chronicles across the sands of Gizeh; and on the mountain deities masturbate existence (ejaculating man) for their own relation while men's minds differentiate patterns that others tinker with and flagellate until nothing remains except a fox pelt nailed to a wall that hides metaphors of idiocy disguised as religion or law for fear that somnambulists should awake and realise that knowledge is Empty

The symbolists who run semiotic relays to validate their dreams would have you believe that a fool self-crowned is king while around the Nile the Scarab traces circles in the sand.
