

Insane U.S. gearing up for all-out WAR

Let's not kid ourselves any longer; the psychopathic Bush regime leaves no doubt as to its intentions; it continues to encircle and provoke Russia and China into a confrontation. Bush, in typical American delusory fashion, believes he can deliver a knockout blow and take the prize - impossible, but in a sense Bush has no other choice.

America has lost the economic war to China, which is a precursor to complete domination by/from the East. In an effort to salvage the remnants of the American Empire, Bush is willing to gamble with the lives of every man, woman and child in the country - whether they like it or not!

Warnings of exactly this insane scenario were never in short supply but the people failed to act so now they must pay the ultimate price for their complacency and cowardice. Bush and his lunatic advisers have convinced themselves they can 'win.' The US plan is not dissimilar to that used against Milosevic in the Balkans - leave no room or options but to fight then justify the use of all force in 'defence.'

Forget the speculation and wishful thinking, its over; WAR is inevitable; and we have no one to blame but ourselves. The world will learn too late, the folly of allowing criminals to steal government AND REMAIN IN POWER even after numerous breaches of local and international law.

The trigger event is probably planned for the Middle East; however, once ignited the conflict will quickly escalate into an all-out nuclear exchange. Silly people!

Russia and China will regret not launching the first strike when so advised. That strategy now forms the basis of America's first strike and win plan.

Yep, it's nuts, but madness is normal these days!
