

It's done: Bankers win, YOU lose!

Does it hurt when you sit down? No! Be assured it soon will. Wall Street thieves have been exonerated and the dumbarse sheeple will take it where they always have, right up the Khyber Pass/arse! Former CEO of Goldman Sachs, Hank Paulson, is the hero of Wall Street's hustlers and racketeers today -- he did it! Champagne corks are popping as far away as Sydney but I fear it may be premature; Rosemary's baby will be stillborn!

We have an expression down here, 'as useful as pissing on a (barbecue) hotplate,' in other words of no use whatsoever. Sure the markets will momentarily surge until fear of the REAL overcomes the delusion of thieves and hucksters. Soon EVERYONE will realise there is not enough money on the earth to fill the hole that Wall Street racketeers have created. Their credit paradigm ensured that all liquidity would be absorbed behind a haze of jargon (derivatives) and as some have previously called it, 'Voodoo Economics!'

It will soon prove to be very bad economic magic indeed especially for the sheeple or common herd. ['How much can a Koala bear?']

After copping all the lies, disasters and GROSS INCOMPETENCE of the Cheney-Bush administration it was inconceivable the people would wear this one, BUT THEY DID, wonders never cease! There is a God after all, a God of imbeciles - only a demented fuckwit or American would give ADDITIONAL money to someone who has robbed them previously!

If you rush down to Wall Street now you may even get a chance to lick some of the empty caviar jars and whiff the corks of Moet left over from the celebrations. The bankers may have to wait a little longer for that light pole and that constrictive feeling around the neck - but it's a certainty, YOU can BACK IT in! They have only delayed the inevitable.

We'll see you when the shit hits the fan and sprays in ALL your faces!
