

'Yes we can,' what?

A previous post put it to the American people clearly and without ambiguity; "well, what the fuck CAN YOU?" During the US election campaign the world watched with great amusement (millions) of mindless American morons chanting "YES WE CAN!" Another typically ambiguous and directionless chant/slogan missing the VITAL QUALIFIER to give it meaning and DIRECTION!

Faring from a nation known for its 'fair go' ethic, we would offer the American people an opportunity to NOW qualify their mindless chant - so let's have it, what the fuck, can you? The world is waiting for America to "change" and display some INTEGRITY/HONESTY and hold war criminals and those who arrogantly and OPENLY BRAG of their torturer status to ACCOUNT -- the ARROGANCE of minority criminal elites in the financial and banking sectors may also warrant some remedial action! But not a glimmer of substantial 'CHANGE on the horizon!' Yes indeed, yanky-doodle-dumbfucks, we are serving it up to you for breakfast -- we hope you morons choke on it! Have you any idea how you people appear to the REST of the WORLD?

With the exception of the proposed closure of Guantanamo Bay, a cosmetic gesture, as the underlying structural policy of illegal detention has not been removed/CHANGED -- a fact made plain by the new CIA director in a press release today -- NOTHING SUBSTANTIAL HAS CHANGED, so what is it we can all believe in? C'mon, spell it out, you vacuum-heads!

It is abundantly clear that virtually nothing has changed - hopeless, bloody hopeless!

Have YOU ever taken a good hard look at the meaningless words and slogans utilised to deceive you, America? Obviously not!

America remains the only nation on earth, where the people are legally endowed with the guardianship of their democracy. The Constitution clearly allows for the people to remove destructive and incompetent governments! Yet the people are unable to exercise their most precious (and envied) option, they're too busy chanting and ruminating!

No one really enjoys ridiculing a bunch of ill-educated, illiterate, rustics BUT it's time you had your brainless noses rubbed into REALITY! Nowhere else on earth would a population fall for such inane and simplistic tricks!

The reason FAILURE is INEVITABLE is simple; see if you can work it out, Earl!

Have you any idea why and how China rose to ascendancy in such a short period of time? The answer is simplicity itself. Truly effective solutions are always simple and straight forward - like jailing Wall St Bankers and holding former politicians accountable for crimes against humanity - but to China's meteoric rise.

A fifth of the world's population COMPETE for a tiny number of university places -- education is free and must be free if a nation wishes to utilise the best it has! By contrast we have the elitist 'user pays' American approach to education and other vital social services. We have all recently witnessed the result of this elitist approach - former President, GEORGE W BUSH, a genius by any American standard! How much less capable is a population deprived of higher learning? I feel a chant coming on, Jethro!

The world will soon realise the good sense in dumping the greenback and cutting the dead weight loose; notwithstanding curtailing a criminal nation's ability to print toilet paper at will. Bye, bye, America - no one can help you if you CAN'T help yourself -- but you 'CAN,' remember?

Tragic!

[I would hasten to remind you that going for the 'trigger' would attract total annihilation. BE ASSURED, your every 'strategy' has been pre-empted. War is such a bore; we have done our numbers and no matter which way you approach it, YOU LOSE, AMERICA! Believe in that cold, hard, REALITY, if you are able.]
