This comment has been upgraded because it makes sense 'across the board' -- something that Executive elites have been unable to do for years! Anyone that has any assets whatsoever in the 'stock market' -- for the want of a more accurate term -- could be best described today as a fool's FOOL!

Angry citizen's comment puts the entire financial meltdown in contextual perspective -- see how THEY run! Use it like a hot knife when dealing with the 'butter' explanations of shysters and banksters. It certainly frames the article from Rolling Stone's, Matt Taibbi, in the comment section very nicely indeed -- a great read, Matt! Never forget the CURRENT REALITY and how we got here and WHO was responsible. Never again fall for the meaningless gibberish of 'experts' that reality BRANDS as thieves and liars -- simple! I'll leave you to the perfect deductions of an honest angry citizen! Ed.

Let's see if I got this right.

The people are prevailed upon by puppet politicians to bailout the FAILED BANKING SYSTEM! Then we are told that WE, the taxpaying public, are incurring the debt burden! [What is wrong with that picture, anyone?]

Let's try to make sense out of that shyster, sleight of hand, shall we?

The FAILED banks need OUR taxpayer money to bail them out and then they want to load the entire debt and fault burden onto us, the public!

In other words WE would become indebted to exactly the same forces we are bailing out!

Well, you know what you can do with that 'deal,' don't you? Blow it out your arse!

If the EXECUTIVE SHYSTER class, imagines in their wildest, dissociated, boardroom dreams, that anyone would wear that ruse, THEY must be more INCOMPETENT and DESPERATE than we first thought!

Now YOU give ME a good reason why WE shouldn't hang the lot of 'em from the nearest light poles!

Go sell that ridiculous proposal to YOUR grandmothers cos, WE, THE PEOPLE, ain't buying! Go, shove it!

Sell your snake oil deals elsewhere!

But wait, our lackey politicians have already acquiesced to the demands of the Executive and Financial elites!

Well, I guess puppet politicians will just have to share the same fate as the Bankster rogues they serve!

The Money Masters -- March, 2007!
