

Asylum America: Bush's Charade

Pat Robertson, noted American Christian fundamentalist and mental deficient, claims that Ariel Sharon is being punished by God for "dividing" Israel. Pat Robertson remains in 'care' and is happy to reside in the most affluent psychiatric institution in the world, the USA.

Pat Robertson and others like him are not the exception they are the rule in the land of upside down, the nation of inverted values. The population believes in the most absurd fantasies imaginable. Hope for a sane future was lost when the population succumbed to the most ludicrous explanation of the murder of one of its most popular Presidents, JFK.

The "magic bullet" theory claims that a single bullet fired from behind somehow ricocheted off the curb and entered the Presidents brain from a frontal trajectory. This absurd explanation was created to account for 8mm film evidence taken by a citizen clearly showing JFK receiving the fatal shot from a frontal angle (now famous grassy knoll theory). Government 'physicians' later produced the (magic) bullet; it remains unique, as it was in pristine condition after its traumatic journey - not a scratch!

Conspiracy theories are not necessary, maintain your trust in reality. It is extremely difficult to hit a moving target so the motorcade's route was planned in such a way as to greatly reduce the speed of the vehicle (at a certain position) and allow for a moment of almost direct line of fire. A rationalist could have initiated an investigation by interrogating those involved in planning the route. It was obvious that those parties were complicit.

Many valid investigative avenues existed but it soon became obvious that Kennedy was killed by his own executive (those who really rule the USA). Regardless of whether or not Kennedy had captured the popular imagination his fate was sealed. Jack Kennedy was not a member of the 'club', his social and other policies ruffled conservative feathers so it was goodbye Jack and the credibility and integrity of the USA forever (or at least until the truth is revealed).

Now entertain these interesting facts - the anthrax attack soon after 9/11 was traced to US laboratories that supply the military, the investigation was quietly canned thereafter [sorry about the fatalities!] A nation that kills its own Presidents has no qualms sacrificing its own people (for dubious purposes).

The third building of the 9/11 disaster, which wasn't hit by an aircraft, also collapsed perfectly onto its own footprint - similar to the twin towers! The third building may have been suffering from sympathetic collapse anxiety; it may have been imitating its big brothers except for the 'minor' fact that it had not been impacted by an aircraft or anything else that could have caused a perfect 'demolition style' collapse.

Perhaps the government investigators will offer a 'magic (supersonic) pigeon' theory to account for the collapse. Why not! Americans fell for the crime of the century with the murder of JFK. Impossibilities have become acceptable in that bizarre nation of Pat Robertsons and lobotomised Presidents. Let's not forget the vehicle parked at Boston airport, conveniently packed with suicide notes and flight manuals in Arabic. The most compliant journalist at the time had trouble accepting this very convenient 'discovery' - but today this information seems quite credible and therein lies the disease of apathy and compliance born/e of information saturation and distractive techniques utilised by 'people controllers' throughout the world.

Recent severe criticism of the dictator Bush prompted a publicity stunt to give the appearance of a working democracy in the USA. A gathering of various political officials to discuss the Iraq dilemma was arranged. Some who were obviously forced to attend (Colin Powell) made a public 'statement' by not making any statements during the orchestrated discussions. There was never any doubt that this exercise was a ruse - Bush's agenda had already been set by his neo-con handlers and Dubya did what he was told; everyone else in attendance just had to lump it.

However, the exercise failed to impress the public; the percentage of the public that is fooled by these charades diminishes day by day. The administration is in trouble but like all ultra-right regimes its course is manic; it is best described as an out-of-control locomotive fast approaching the barrier of its inevitable and violent end.

How often have we heard the leaders of the 'coalition of the willing' state that "extraordinary events require extraordinary measures"? We agree, the criminal actions of the Bush, Blair and Howard governments and all those complicit in the illegal invasion of Iraq and the subsequent deaths of thousands of innocent civilians require that any immunity from prosecution be lifted in order for justice to be served. If we are to live in a sane world there is no other option. It is ludicrous to prosecute one State leader for murder and not another when all hands drip with the blood of innocents.

The consequences of inaction would reinforce existing powers and further reduce available options and liberties. Every time we allow an injustice to occur unchallenged that injustice becomes acceptable. The result is the steady increase of brutal methods, which would culminate in a totalitarian oppressive regime.

It is irrelevant whether a mass murderer holds important office or sweeps the streets - all must be subject to the same law. Despotism evolves in nations that would make the law a farce? It should never be forgotten that all leaders are subject to their respective populations.

Peace.
