

Murdoch Media Empire going belly up!

And you shouldn't be surprised after years of treating the public with arrogance and contempt. Peddling flagrant, tissue-thin LIES is a very short term occupation these days, Murdoch! The public are leaving you in droves never to return again! How long did you think you could compete with millions of bloggers telling the truth while you continued to LIE and peddle transparent propaganda?

Senile Old Fool

Your inflated purchase of the WSJ reflects your inability to connect with today's reality; the 'good ol' days of managing public opinion unchallenged ARE OVER, dick head!

You were advised to give over to your sons but like all true megalomaniacs you thought you knew best; notwithstanding your failure to read the hard REALITY of your recent misguided purchases/acquisitions. Previous owners WERE extremely happy to let their assets go for a King's ransom, sucker; you paid a premium for antiquated goods - you senile old fool!

It's really satisfying watching you lose it; I hope you live long enough to see it ALL go!

It was YOU who ostracised the public with pathetic formulas and contemptuous content. Now it's time to 'pay the banker,' and as you know no one 'gets out.'

You are receiving due recognition for all your arrogance and blindness - awareness beat you in the end, old man!

Nevertheless, the best is yet to come, Rupert, this is just the beginning of the end for you, watch it all disintegrate before your eyes; a fitting reward for a person that helped slaughter millions of innocents in illegal wars sold to the public by YOU - are you superstitious, you black-hearted clown? You will share in the reward dished out to the regime you supported so fervently - they couldn't have done it without you handling misinformation.

The only people worried at the prospect of your demise are the lackey politicians you support, what will become of show-pony, Rudd, photo-shoot, Obama and no-hoper, Brown -- no doubt they will join you in ignominy.

This is riveting entertainment, Rupert, and it's free.

Should I tip you about the US plan for the South Pacific and the regional wars planned for that area - are you still able to dig for a REAL story? What do you think the US is doing in Sri Lanka routing the Tigers and building bases - could the targets possibly be India and China? NATO strangling Russia while the US plans a massive build-up in the South Pacific using Oz and Sri Lanka as springboards; however, its doomed to fail just like your media empire, Rupert - for the same reasons, everybody knows!

Further tightening in the region is likely to trigger an unexpected 'surprise' from the alliance! But give it your best shot anyway; to the victor go the spoils and the victor in today's world is the quickest and smartest -- pre-empt that if you are able.
