

Be careful what you wish for, Kevin Rudd!

by peptide Wednesday, May 13 2009, 11:34am

national / social/political / commentary

It wasn't too long ago a disillusioned Australian nation elected a new leader with the hope the new leader would represent the electorate NOT the elites the previous PM served! However, it soon became apparent the new leader, Kevin O7, was just another servile lackey walking in the subservient footsteps of the previous leader, John Howard. The Australian population was sorely disappointed, to say the least.

Rudd has been called a 'non-event;' 'the leader you have when you don't have a leader;' 'a do nothing Prime Minister;' 'rudderless Rudd,' 'photo shoot Rudd;' 'show pony Rudd -- I'm sure you get the gist. Rudd is a 'bells and whistles,' man of appearances but NO SUBSTANCE. The public prayed and hoped that Rudd would finally DO SOMETHING and GOVERN the nation. But reality dictated he could do neither; Rudd is a walking national tragedy.

Advisers to the new PM were aware that public sentiment was turning against their man and feared he would become a 'one-term wonder;' so in order to prevent that occurrence they set about trying to give a non-event the appearance of an event! Needless to say they didn't succeed, people know the difference between charades and reality.

Drastic action was required, Rudd had to make his presence felt or he would face early defeat.

The people are now sorry they elected Rudd and the reason is not because he did nothing it's because he FINALLY did something!

In response to the global economic recession, Rudd's handlers instructed him to spend like a person with bi-polar disorder on a high, and Rudd took to the task with a zeal that surprised many. The result is the nation has now accumulated - in record time -- a debt that equals that of many underdeveloped, third world nations. Bankers and those flush with liquidity now control the destiny of Australia; the national debt is so great that it threatens to oppress generations of Australians not yet born! Rudd has finally made his mark in Australian history; he has become the prime minister that hocked the ENTIRE nation. CRUSHING NATIONAL DEBT is now incorporated in the national psyche, one which already 'boasted' racism, shameless cowardice and spectacular grovelling to American regimes.

However, it seems Rudd has little chance of pushing his debt slavery and other policy changes through the upper house. Commentators are already referring to the prospect of a double dissolution, which would force an early election due to blocked supply. Furthermore, many believe that this prospect was intentionally planned by Rudd's advisers.

In view of internet censorship policies; making Australia a nuclear target by triggering an arms race in the region; spineless compliance with America's demands to deploy our troops in Afghanistan; creating a MASSIVE NATIONAL DEBT, Rudd's handlers seem to be playing with fire. It appears they have overlooked the distinct possibility that skilled and EXPERIENCED former treasurer Peter Costello may lead the opposition if an early election is called, whao!

Facing its abysmal record of incompetence, inaction, bungling and 'wild card' prospects, the Rudd government could very easily lose a forced election. It would nevertheless deserve such an outcome! In fact, WE DARE YOU to force a DD, Kevin, you pathetic, no talent, little narcissist!

We hope and pray for the opportunity to boot you out on your ear, you no account, Corporate LACKEY - go for it, Kevin, please!

<http://www.theaustralian.news.com.au/story/0,25197,25473781-12377,00.html>

Cleaves Alternative News. <http://cleaves.lingama.net/news/story-1562.html>