

No Contest

by fray Thursday, Oct 1 2009, 6:10pm

international / prose/poetry / literature

Mesmerised

Are you in awe of their war machines built only to DESTROY; do you fear them?

Do you really fear twisted old men that kill for pleasure and feast on the blood of innocence and youth; do you believe their feeble lies?

Their war machines are reduced to naught by a single verse and an entire culture is turned by a narrative!

Nature's irresistible equalising power; the pen of a poet/scribe against the armies of the world -- an unfair advantage, no doubt!