

Demented America, more absurd by the day!

Desperate for any diversionary tactic, the White House PR machine has opted to hold the trial of alleged 9/11 "mastermind," Khalid Sheikh Mohammed, in New York! However, the problem for American 'justice' (ROFL) is the widespread knowledge of a 'confession' obtained under torture - Sheikh Mohammed was subjected to 183 separate instances of 'waterboarding' by the State -- and as any first year Law student would inform you, any case against the Sheikh would have been severely compromised as a result. But in the lobotomised land of cowboys, a minor technicality like a confession obtained under torture is not a problem -- the White House has been flouting every civilised Law in the world since the Balkan intervention - how many civilians have we killed this month, Uncle Sam?

The legal reality is simple; the defendant is able to mount a case against America, in the international court, for torture but America is in no LEGAL POSITION to mount a LEGITIMATE case against anyone it has tortured to obtain a 'confession!'

We can't wait for the next lunatic announcement from the bereft Obama White House - though it would be difficult to top 'permanent occupation in invaded ASIA!'
