The next time you see/hear ANY economic adviser/'expert'/politician on TV or radio do yourself a favour and hang off every word, and then come to the very clear REALISATION they are talking PURE, unadulterated crap, gibberish!

The reason is simple, today's economic hard reality is GLOBAL economic FAILURE, due partially to the over production of toilet paper (unpegged) paper money called anything but that - the latest linguist contortion for that abstract commodity is, "quantitative easing" - give me a fuckin' 12 gauge break or a sturdy length of rope, please!

The other major reason for these nonsensical diatribes is not that jargon is required or that the nature of REAL economics is technically difficult, it is simply that elite bankers and other rogues play at a privileged table/market, one of the rules of which is to learn to reveal absolutely nothing meaningful to the public lest they catch on!

Almost everyone associated with this News site has tertiary qualifications, some have Masters and Doctorates; it is they who laugh loudest when reviewing the latest economic reports!
