

Global economy: dead man walking

by lynx Monday, Aug 30 2010, 6:44pm

international / social/political / commentary

I thought I'd heard it all until Ben Bernanke, bereft of any positive remedies or strategies, openly stated to the world that he would support the failed economy with more 'quantitative easing' i.e. printing worthless toilet paper money and attempting to indebt people and nations with a privately owned printing press - for fuck's sake Ben, the jig is up!

Ben 'bereft' Bernanke

In a way we wish he would flood an already flooded economy with more useless paper money, which would force China, Russia and other nations to dump their reserves of worthless greenbacks - please, Ben, do it - you must, simply because the patient you are attempting to revive DIED two years earlier; life support is merely a feign, the WORLD now knows it!

Are 'we' gloating at the CERTAINTY of your demise, you betcha!

Historians are having a field day, and the best is yet to come. The failed attempt to move the economy from (over) production to a carbon (regulated, penalty) system will also fail, it's far too late - the world/society is at the precipice and with a little help from our friends, over it goes!

Remember who we are - the people -- when we hang you from the nearest light poles.

Death to the criminal elites and JUSTICE for abused populations everywhere!

We are ONE.

[And if you're thinking of plunging the world into war to save your quivering arses, think again, your every pathetic move has been pre-empted.]

Go on Ben, be brave, roll those presses!]

<http://www.thestreet.com/story/10845327/1/us-government-prepares-for-crisis.html>

Cleaves Alternative News. <http://cleaves.lingama.net/news/story-2083.html>