

Summer Eyes

by lynx Monday, Oct 25 2010, 6:29pm

international / prose/poetry / literature a warm summer breeze bathes my skin in delight banishing the winter chill for another season

or longer --
who knows the future?

the valley begins
to stir with life
ready to don its summer garment
and play host
to all manner of life.

a visual symphony unfolds
-- a poet's delight --

sensual eyes absorb
every part of you;
hands accustomed to weaving lyric verse
gently trace the contours of
ur body/mind -- ur entire being

we move together
in perfect harmony,
the warm breeze
insulating us from the memory of harsh winter chills

birds throat their love calls reminding us
that only the future
holds promise,
Life

the past,
whether dressed
in splendour,
rags or both

is unable to produce,
we resurrect it
with memories at times
but it is gone forever

today is lush
warm,
its fullness
overwhelms and
soothes the soul
and senses,
its abundance
requires no
assistance
only appreciation,
participation

today is shaping into something special,
perhaps
a perfect summer day

Cleaves Alternative News. <http://cleaves.lingama.net/news/story-2169.html>