

Bluster, Bravado and Hard Reality

For all its bluster and bravado about high tech digital weaponry and invincible superpower status, the US is laughingly unable to prevail against a bunch of rag-tag tribesmen in Afghanistan and the North West frontier region of Pakistan - notwithstanding that Iraq, the Balkans and other occupied territories hang by a thread.

The prospect of occupied territories regaining their sovereignty constantly haunts Washington, the Pentagon and the Corporatist forces that control them. It's a house of cards!

No elaboration is necessary, as Afghanistan ALONE flies in the face of every American LIE about its 'supremacy, invincibility' and sole superpower/shithead status - TEN years and American/NATO criminals are bogged in a quagmire that threatens to undermine the entire alliance.

The situation is so confronting that even the lobotomised American public have woken to the embarrassing REALITY of America's IMPOTENCE/incompetence in the face of a few hundred untrained but highly dedicated and motivated fighters.

Local Afghan guerrilla forces armed with improvised and stolen weapons and the natural passion to expel all foreign invaders from ancestral homelands are making MONKEYS out of gung-ho, yankee doodle, CIVILIAN KILLING, INCOMPETENT dumbfucks!

We advise increasing the dose of 'combat enhancers' (amphetamines) to unsuspecting troops and murdering more INNOCENT civilians with Drone and other air strikes. We also advise an increase in mindless remote, robotic warfare; that is guaranteed to win the day for the opposition - MORONS!

America forgot the one most basic rule of warfare, it is won by the MEN 'on the ground' not by gadgets and media fantasies.

Have a nice deluded, LOSING day, Uncle!
