

Gaddafi Forced to Retaliate

by bluey Friday, Jul 1 2011, 11:59pm

international / peace/war / commentary

After enduring months of illegal and constant NATO bombing attacks, Col. Gaddafi has been forced to retaliate and issue a warning to NATO nations; to paraphrase, 'either cease your [illegal] bombing attacks on Libya or we will take the war to your doorsteps in Europe!' What choice did he have?

Col. Gaddafi

US/NATO forces, hell bent on illegally assassinating him and stealing his nation's wealth for their Corporatist overlords, rejected every offer of a peaceful settlement. To date NATO and CIA backed rebels have slaughtered more civilians than any other force in Libya, which makes a thorough MOCKEY of the UN and ICC.

Gaddafi is finally responding in kind to the West's barbaric attacks on his nation - all specialists are acutely aware that it only takes a handful of skilled operatives to create major havoc and severe disruptions in Western capitals. It remains to be seen what other specialist support Serbia, Russia Ukraine, China and other allies are able to offer or indeed execute! America's Corporatist overlords have clearly bitten off more than they can chew -- things are never what they seem to be!

The banking and corporatist cabals responsible for all the wars that rage around the globe must be completely ERADICATED if the world is to know peace - a hard reality that must be faced today.

Report from Oz ABC follows:

Gaddafi vows to sting Europe

AFP report

Libyan leader Muammar Gaddafi has threatened to launch attacks on European nations unless NATO stops its air strikes in the north African country.

The embattled leader says Libyan forces will target European "homes, offices, and families" in a series of attacks like "locusts and bees".

His message comes after France confirmed it had supplied weapons to anti-government rebels, delivering arms to Berber tribal fighters near the capital Tripoli.

Mr Gaddafi's threat was made during an audio message played to thousands of supporters gathered in Tripoli.

In the a speech to mark 100 days of the NATO military campaign, he also urged supporters to retrieve the weapons that France supplied to rebels battling his regime.

"The Libyan people are capable, one day, of taking the battle to Europe and the Mediterranean" region, Mr Gaddafi said in the message, as thousands of supporters massed in Green Square in the centre of the capital.

"They could attack your homes, your offices, your families [who] could become legitimate military targets because you have transformed our offices, headquarters, homes and children into military targets which you say are legitimate.

"If we decide to do so, we are capable of throwing ourselves on Europe like swarms of locusts or bees.

"So we advise you to back-track before you face a catastrophe."

The ever-flamboyant leader was speaking from a secret location, but his voice boomed across Tripoli's the landmark square, where the authorities were hoping to gather 1 million regime supporters.

The crowds, waving green flags and carrying portraits of Mr Gaddafi, chanted slogans of allegiance to "God, Gaddafi and Libya," while some fired guns into the air in celebration as the night sky was lit by fireworks.

"March on ... and seize the weapons that the French have supplied. If later you want to pardon them [the rebels], that's up to you," Mr Gaddafi said.

French foreign minister Alain Juppe said overnight that this week's arms drop was meant only to defend peaceful civilians from Mr Gaddafi's forces and thus fell in line with existing UN resolutions on the conflict.

"Civilians had been attacked by Gaddafi's forces and were in an extremely vulnerable situation and that is why medicine, food and also weapons of self-defence were parachuted," Mr Juppe said on French radio.

"It is not a violation of the UN Security Council resolutions" under which France and other allies launched air strikes and imposed embargoes to protect civilians from Mr Gaddafi, Mr Juppe said.

A US State Department spokesman says Mr Gaddafi's threats should be taken seriously.

Several loud explosions, presumed to be NATO air strikes, were heard in Tripoli hours after Mr Gaddafi made his comments.

Meanwhile, an African Union summit on Friday said African nations will not execute an International Criminal Court (ICC) arrest warrant for Mr Gaddafi, saying it "seriously complicates" efforts to find a peaceful solution to the conflict.

On June 27, the ICC issued warrants for Mr Gaddafi, his son Seif al-Islam, and the head of Libyan intelligence, Abdullah al-Senussi, for atrocities committed in the bloody uprising.

Copyright applies to external text.

HUGE Pro Gaddafi Rally in Capital Tripoli, July 1.

The naked terrorism of the US and NATO will soon be exposed for all to see. Fighting popular support like this is not accomplished without revealing the TRUTH behind the invasion. The morons that drafted PNAC forgot that opposition RAPIDLY increases as society learns the sordid Truth about previous criminal invasions.

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/stories/2011/07/02/3259297.htm>

Cleaves Alternative News. <http://cleaves.lingama.net/news/story-2595.html>