

'Extreme Nationalist' - the New Bogeyman

In the wake of the recent massacres in Norway, which killed over ninety citizens, the world was surprised to learn that the killer was NOT a bearded Jihadist – such is the power of mass media saturation over an extended period. The lunatic in this instance was a Norwegian local with a right wing Christian fundamentalist background. What is interesting to note however, are the numerous instances of media racial profiling; the killer is universally described as blonde, six feet tall, blue eyes etc, emphasising that extremists are not necessarily swarthy or dark featured 'foreigners.' The media seems less concerned with the fact that lunacy knows no racial boundaries than it is with highlighting the home grown terrorist factor! Or could the almost uniform media accounts of this tragedy be hiding another Iraq style WMD LIE and new 'terrorist' bogeyman creation?

Bomber gunman, 32yo Anders Behring Breivik

I have often lectured that a lie reveals the truth it attempts to hide by direct connection. In this instance I would reserve final assessment until all the facts are known -- too many descriptions of the killer carry the tag 'extreme nationalist,' inferred or stated; a repetition difficult for any good analyst, much less a semiotician, to miss.

To clarify for the moronic majority, 'extreme nationalist' is a Big Brother description of a home grown terrorist -- 'we must keep the terrorist threat alive and pumping after the staged death of Hollywood Bin Laden but we need to universalise the threat these days, we have REAL enemies emerging from every quarter;' one could safely bet is the topic of whispers in globalist circles.

Indeed, it seems that attempts are underway, after the staged (not a shred of real evidence) 'death' of Hollywood Bin Laden to create a more tailored 'terrorist' bogeyman in order to justify the huge loss of civil liberties and international civilian killing war crimes. Maintaining fear, division and hate in local populations is also a priority; sheeple are much easier to herd when frightened, I am told! Could it really be true?

Patterns reveal everything in the end; ruling elites are about as difficult to read and pre-empt as a 25 cent novel with a bad plot.

We wait patiently for the next round of packaged mass media releases originating from the New York based, "CFR" - look it up sheeple, maybe you might learn something other than how to be obedient slaves! I will repeat a previous contributor's question: 'have you ever wondered why US/NATO civilian killing WAR CRIMES are never pursued by the mass media?

We wait patiently for more details on the Norwegian massacre -- with hyped SWAT teams everywhere some are wondering how an armed to the teeth lunatic killer was taken so easily, a completely out of character event for shooting mass murderers! Cynics are also asking whether we should expect numerous story retractions and re-writes similar to the ABSURD charade of the Bin Laden raid in Pakistan.

You people are pathetic - and transparent! The dissident voice and civil resistance against criminal ruling elites can never be eliminated but it's now time for your OT, you walking mummies!
