

Total collapse - Oz Stock Exchange in Free Fall

We have a strong 'hole in the ground' economy; nothing has changed in Oz or China, however, Wall St burped and the Oz stock market shit itself! This is the PRICE of Globalism. Perhaps now sovereign nation, sovereign wealth and national independent banks make sense, but our treasonous politicians, working tirelessly for the international banking elite, would rather Aussies suffer than see unelected, unrepresentative, Bankers and Corporatists take a tumble.

Oz treasurer, Wayne Swan, has gone into damage control, his shrill attempts to convince shareholders not to dump stocks -- while the big players or smart money are doing exactly that, is reassuring no one! [Moron] investors are expected to hang in and take a greater hit than the manipulators and smart money that 'get out' quick and 'get in' even quicker - it's an obvious insider rort, BORING!

Did anyone really expect things to improve when governments threw money - TARP -- at the same Bankers that plunged the world into economic ruin? Even my senile grandmother knows not to throw good money after bad! Governments should have nationalised failed banks and other major financial institutions with the taxpayer money they threw away on criminal Banksters.

Why didn't the economy recover? Because Banksters ferreted the money away to cover THEIR losses and then proceeded to shower themselves in bonuses AGAIN! Leopards and Banksters do not change their spots. I hope the message is not lost on lackey politicians. Hanging the lot of 'em and making a clean sweep is looking the better option as each day passes.

Puppet politicians are fools if they imagine that minority elites will protect/save them; they are too busy saving themselves! Christmas street 'decorations' may be hung early this year.

For fuck's sake, what does it take for some people to get the message? Global markets are controlled by the largest players - that simple! Why then is the situation faltering? It isn't, it's a strategy to feign a crisis and move to the next stage of the game; social destabilisation/panic then imposed slavery with 'gratitude.' Get ready for a bar code on your forehead and a RFID chip up your arse - you can also kiss the last of your social freedoms and liberties goodbye! Locked down society here we come and don't say you weren't warned -- from numerous sources, many times over!

Mr Swan's shrill assurances are not worth the integrity he never had.

Commodities might save you, perhaps, but a little research reveals that the nefarious Rothschilds own most of the world's gold bullion - they have the gold market 'cornered' so are able to move the price around at will. JP Morgan controls silver and on it goes - it's the same criminal elites every time.

Surely now you are able to understand that the noose is the only REAL solution for the likes of these criminals? But I know you're too busy at the moment watching your shares disappearing before your eyes, you dumb, useless, gutless, suckers - the sooner they fuck you the better!
