

Mermaids and Pomegranates

radiant
crimson female fruit
tart and sweet to the taste an eating pleasure
delicious red juice
tickles as it trickles
down the side of my mouth

a solitary rock
on a deserted coast
warmed by the sun
and cooled by the sea in turn smoothed,
dried and moistened
over millennia

i wait patiently for you to emerge from the deep green sea
and lay your moist body on my warm surface
together in the sun
momentarily comforted
forgetting the stark,
solitary reality of our lives

being with you
deceiving myself
that this brief moment
could endure for an eternity but eternity continues alone yet it contains/carries this moment and all that was, is or ever will Be

i must resign myself to the reality of my existence between two worlds
a sentinel on the edge of a limitless, deep sea
knowing both watery secrets and solar mysteries

come
enjoy delicious
fruits with me
linger a little longer
recline and rest,
bask in the sun
on my smooth
warmed body
before you [must]
return to the deep.
