

Mass Media and Internet KILL SWITCH Tested in US

international / mass media / commentary

According to a popular ultra-right-wing US media commentator, the US government recently switched the nation's entire mass media OFF for 30 seconds -- the only media exceptions were the Internet and Telephony.

Of course verification is required, so first to Google and try as I did -- using many and various keyword searches -- US Google produced NOTHING on what should be a HUGE media story; it's not every day an entire nation's mass media is switched off by government! No verification or even mention of the event appeared on Bilderberge/CIA partner, Google, after numerous keyword searches and attempts! A very BIG, hmmm, on that!

It would not be in character for media host, Judge Napolitano, to openly deceive or make such a gross error, though he is a known mouthpiece for Banking and Corporate elites, so there must be some truth in his claim. However, I challenge readers to attempt any form of search verification -- as of today's date 11-11-2011; O, shit! I didn't realise it was the 11-11-11, another BIG hmmm on that meaningful date for secret ruling cabals!

Well, ignoring conspiracy theories for the moment, sane and rational people would like some verification of Judge Napolitano's claims, as it is known that US media commentators screamed some years back over the forced (by law) installation of 'black box' master kill/redirect switches at ALL mass media points of transmission!

It is therefore reasonable to assume that if these devices were installed (by law) in the US, then at some stage they would be tested and then utilised for nefarious purposes -- it is also KNOWN that anyone that seeks to switch off the Independent media or take control of it, is up to no good and has MUCH to hide!

I leave you with two videos to assess for yourselves, one from Oz, which serves to background the story and the other from the US. But before proceeding be warned that Napolitano never mentions the fact that the real government of the US is Wall St and the Transnational corporations. Congress was completely captured by these nefarious forces decades past, so Napolitano's ravings are pure deflection, though he may raise accurate points. Napolitano clearly subscribes to the Reagan view that REAL representative government (which does not exist in the US) is somehow a "problem." Well, we've ALL seen the "solution," an unregulated Wall St and Transnationals that have destroyed the global economy and instigated war over the past ten years -- 'solutions' like that no one needs! Never forget there is no CONSTRUCTIVE purpose behind mass media kill switches!

The hypocrisy and transparent lies of Hillary Clinton are staggering; she condemns others for media censorship/control knowing all the while that US ruling interests are planning TOTAL information control in the Orwellian sense! Real REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT would cure this and many other social ills the US suffers today. It's not the institution of government that is the problem it's the lackeys that hold office that are the problem.
