

Lebanon, Lies and Criminal Warfare

“Israel has a right to defend itself” was the inane excuse offered to the world by the Bush administration for the murder and vandalism committed by Israel in Lebanon – what price ‘defensive warfare’ in today’s world? The unprecedented vandalism and indiscriminate slaughter in Lebanon was (we are expected to believe) the measured response to a border incursion and two kidnapped soldiers! Hundreds of dead children, wanton destruction and the criminal oil pollution of the Mediterranean coast are the results of Israel ‘defending’ itself?

It seems that defensive warfare today is a license to disregard international codes, conventions and laws. No legal action for the murder of civilians or compensation for the massive pollution of the Mediterranean and the destruction of non-military targets in Southern Lebanon has been sought from Israel to date.

Notwithstanding the profound disgust traditional militarists around the world must feel when confronted with the tactics of the IDF, Israel’s latest effort would shock even the most seasoned criminal. Perhaps a reference to a core cultural attitude may assist in the understanding of Jewish disregard for non-Jewish life:

Joshua 6:21

And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, and sheep, and ass, with the edge of the sword.

Many more references of genocide are contained in the ‘Holy’ scrolls of the Jews. Look no further than the elitist consciousness of racism, theological fascism and the brutality that results from exclusivist ideologies in order to understand the behaviour of modern Jewry and the States of Israel and Christian Zionist America.

Imagine if other powerful nations adopted the simplistic and insane logic of the USA and Israel. Did China exercise its legitimate option to launch an attack after NATO deliberately targeted its embassy in Belgrade during the Balkan conflict? Is China preparing an indiscriminate onslaught on Israel for the death of one of its nationals after Israel intentionally targeted a UN observation post in Southern Lebanon - what chance would Israel have against China?

For those who mistakenly imagine that China is afraid or has not opposed U.S. expansionism in the past we would refer to the Vietnam conflict, which would never have ended in victory for Vietnam without assistance from China. Perhaps the Korean stalemate would serve as a better example, the so-called military superiority of America was shown wanting on both occasions. But it would seem that leaders today have very short memories. The Sino-Russian military alliance is acutely aware of the probing tactics of the USA and its proxy, Israel.

A brief reminder may be appropriate at this stage; we draw the attention of uncle imbecile to the tons of illicit drugs that are daily smuggled into the country; existing border security is a joke and is easily circumvented. The South Americans and Mexicans are masters in cross border excursions on land, sea and air - but lets not tell anyone, it may prove embarrassing!

Most intelligence communities in the developed world consider the American 'leadership' and the present condition of U.S. 'intelligence' agencies as dysfunctional and dangerously inadequate; we need not mention the levels of penetration Russian agents have been able to achieve in the past. We would however mention that for the past forty years Chinese agents have slowly penetrated every aspect of U.S. society. Almost every major capital city has been compromised. It is not incoming missiles that pose the greatest threat, it is existing 'installations' placed there by agents possessed of all the patience, anonymity and stealth that is characteristic of the Asiatic cultural consciousness.

Consider the above a gentle reminder or timely advice. The tactics of demented sociopaths are no match for considered and calculated strategies. Continued provocation in the form of criminal wars of aggression might result in a demonstration of the oversights and vulnerabilities characteristic of all short-term shallow thinkers and loud-mouthed bullies.

The greatest fear that plagues all nuclear powers is the maverick or rogue agent, one who appropriates a device and re-deploys it in a tactically superior/sensitive unknown location. That agent effectively becomes the nemesis of any State that utilises traditional warfare strategies; a single individual able to engage an entire State already spells defeat for that State. An individual at war with a State is the height of asymmetric warfare and asymmetric warfare by definition favours the smaller but strategically superior force.

Faced with a detonation, the U.S. has no winning strategy; the cretinous strategy already in place - which serves the purposes of the attacker - is to target a number of nations and perceived enemy superpowers. This blind and totally stupid retaliatory response is exactly what the asymmetric warfare strategist desires. The 21st century belongs not to the superpower but to the super intellect of an exceptional individual unconstrained by any regulatory sentiment. The age of the 'perfect warrior/war' is born!

A towering column of smoke spells immediate defeat for the USA, whether it retaliates or not is irrelevant, it is damned if it does and damned if it doesn't - the perfect location of DEFEAT! It should clearly be stated that the present warmongering Zionist controlled U.S. administration and the grossly incompetent neo-cons have placed America in this untenable position.

It is the criminal pursuits of the Bush regime and the subversion of traditional values that have placed America in a no-win situation; the responsibility for the situation in which American now finds itself must be borne by the people. There is nowhere to go but to the hell you have so perfectly created for yourselves!
