Not to be backgrounded in world affairs, the new Hitler youth Pope of Rome, Ratzinger (by any other name) spouted his ultra-right-wing divisionist diatribes to the world today – are there any Muslims out there? Ratzinger’s highly inflammatory references to a previous crusading Pope’s diatribes against Islam were intended to inform the world that he has not forgotten his Nazi past, Ratzinger has left little doubt as to what he really represents – there is no cause for concern, however, as he is in ‘good’ company; neo-cons, Zionists and other ultra-conservative groups welcomed confirmation from the Pope that he is one of them. Ratzinger’s credentials as a representative of his God and saviour, the Prince of Peace, Jesus Christ, were left wanting – papal integrity plummeted to new depths today.

Pope Benedict (Ratzinger)

But things are not what they appear to be; Bush and his neo-con cohorts are Zionist Jews and Zionist Evangelicals (Protestants). What we have here is a competition to see who can trump the other camp for the most flagrantly hostile attitudes toward their Muslim brothers – the ‘enemies of Christendom/Zion’. Don’t you luv all this Christian LOVE and ‘undetectable’ hypocrisy? Is the Truth in our faces yet? Does anyone require more proof that religion, whether of the Bush, Rome, Jew/Muslim variety is a disease of hate, racism and violence, replete with a perfect history of BLOOD?

Well at least they are not pretending anymore – religion today is pure hate-based politics. Religion is death and destruction for the masses and material wealth for the few, do I hear murmuring from the bereft flocks and herds? I think we’ve seen this movie before, plundering the gold/wealth of the East (Byzantium) and utilising a religious veneer of liberating the holy land/spreading democracy, a tired and familiar formula. Imperialists, fascists and conservatives are nothing if not devoid of vision; but will this old formula succeed today? I doubt it!

With reference to the divorced from reality “bouquets of flowers”, “mission accomplished” and “Hezbollah infrastructure completely destroyed” statements of Wolfowitz, Bush and Olmert, the breaking news is consistency! True to its character the Zionist Bush regime is FAILING MISERABLY while attempting to convince the world that everything is “on-track”. People today wager on which neo-con can make the most fantastic statement denying the reality of failed policies, campaigns and strategies. Iraq is a debacle, a nightmare of twenty three thousand U.S. and one hundred thousand (innocent) Iraqi civilian casualties. Israel has tasted defeat in South Lebanon fighting the proxy war of neo-con strategists; the PNAC doctrine of overwhelming force and the use of criminal tactics has proven ineffective against the superior strategies of Hezbollah. Makes you think don’t it, Jethro? To add to this surreal picture (we actually live in) Ratzinger enters the fray with rants that a Third Reich propagandist could have written.

People say we live in difficult times - absolute rubbish! What is the difficulty in identifying lunatics and murderers? The nuts are out in the open, plain as day and easy to identify. RELIGION and theological diatribes are common to all the factions. If  $2+2=4$  then religion is a principal factor behind today's violent conflicts. Today, criminally insane political and religious leaders perform and exhibit their lunacy in full public view! They actually believe their narcissistic antics and pathological behaviours are commendable. It seems that madness is the popular pursuit of today's elites, everyone who 'matters' is playing, so why shouldn't I, mumbles Ratzinger to himself.

There is little need to elaborate further, however, an urgent question needs to be asked, what is the most appropriate remedy for insane leadership? Could the answer be as simple as exercising our democratic rights and removing the blight from office?

The alternative is to believe the flagrant lies of murderers and hypocrites and pretend that everything is exactly as they would have us believe?
