

Midtones ...

international / prose/poetry / literature are not technically colours

they are scales,
the infinite
grey scales
between black and white

i am overcome by your scent, zillions of olfactory sensations pour into my brain and awaken my desire

beware of simplifications, good-evil, God-devil, etcetera;
nature's INFINITE wonder shames man's feeble attempts to reduce everything
to black and white

*"you're with us or,
you're with the terrorists"*
that infamous, moronic
declaration
made by the leader
of the world's leading civilian killing nation

who would or could fall for it, i thought at the time;
surely the world is much wiser than a baboon wearing a cowboy hat?

yet over a decade later perpetual war is reality, as was hoped by the reductionists that scripted that imbecilic binary slogan

a star-spangled
league of organised criminals would have us all believe their simplistic explanations while they murder, plunder and destroy -- somehow 'right and wrong'

have been mysteriously excluded from their lexicon of binary oppositions.

in 600 BC
a poet greater than i
articulated a warning:
"but for the notion of good there would be no evil;"
the message was/is clear,
polar opposites
define each other and
are locked in mutual antagonistic embrace

ease urself onto
my manhood,
opposites locked in embrace lose their antagonistic agitation, forming ONE
body that gives rise to many others.

how so, no-one believes yet falls victim
to simplistic explanations?

i would relegate/vanquish all such simple-minded slogans to the realm of fools and imbeciles in Texas and Washington where a black white-man swears black with white words and deceives with a smile.

regardless of his polish and delivery he too reads from prepared scripts written by the 'us and them'
brigade -
the black white-man
delivers the same simplistic
logic
and lies as did
his predecessor.

your proximity tantalises
while propriety

forbids your thighs
opening and
locking around my waist;

some binary oppositions are more easily dealt with
than others,
it would seem.
