who is able to divest himself of achievement and status and lose himself completely in the nameless mass of humanity?

flowing easy like water, he is invisible ... moving like life itself, he is nameless and homeless.

simple is his manner to all appearances he seems a fool; his steps leave no trace he has no power he achieves nothing he has no reputation.

he judges no-one, therefore no-one judges him.

such is the perfect man.

his boat is empty.

[It is the mighty that fall the hardest. And it's the birds with the brightest plumage that are hunted for their feathers.]
