

Criminal Paradise is Government

The answer is blowing the Constitution and Bill of Rights out the window - the Triads, Mafia, Latino, Cuban groups and various South American drug cartels all have something to learn from Cheney and Bush; in fact, they look positively tame in comparison. When confronted with accusations (and proof) of murder, torture, theft/plunder, illegal surveillance, etc, on levels traditional organised crime could only dream of, what is the recourse of neo-cons? Legislate and change the Law (it's an ass anyway). Simply legalise activities that were once considered crimes and criminalise those who oppose or disagree! There's nothing that compares to stealing government - computerised voting, subterfuge, lies, fabricated terrorist threats and THE POWER TO LEGISLATE - it's just too damn easy!

Dick Cheney -- "the dark side"

Today, Dubya legalised/ratified the use of secret CIA torture prisons, including Guantanamo Bay. He also legalised the use of 'evidence' obtained under torture; these and other sinister changes constitute the finishing touches, the cherry on the totalitarian cake!

Today officially marks the death of democracy in America.

State criminals are now able to ply their nefarious trade without concern or conscience. Today is the first day of national slavery or the beginning of a rebellion; with the popular rebellion conspicuous by its absence we defer to the second option, servitude - it's slave time in U.S. park! You poor gutless American slobs, has it come to this? Abraham Lincoln would not recognise the America of Bush and his neo-cons, the Founding Fathers even less!

We do not marvel at criminal behaviour, it is and has always been transparent, we do however marvel at the stupidity and servility of a frightened and timid American population. Is anyone in their right minds over there? What are you afraid of? Do you really believe that a handful of nomadic camel and goat herders could effectively attack the USA without (internal) assistance from those in high places? If you really believe the ludicrous proposition that a bunch of bearded tribalists are about to take over the world then you deserve everything you get. However, be assured, the 'best' is yet to come, complete submission and compliance to the criminal powers is your fate - the terrorists have taken government!

Faced with torture, coercion and kangaroo courts, freedom loving people may be forced to defend themselves - fortunately the provisions to bear arms still exist. I have yet to meet the person who would willingly submit to torture and assured incarceration as an enemy of a Criminal State, without putting up a fight. The new laws actually create an underground resistance where none previously existed - has it occurred to anyone that some people refuse to be enslaved or herded like sheep? They may choose to fight in order to preserve their dignity and self-respect; the prospect of submitting to the rule of murderers and thieves is not an option or under consideration.

The latest sinister designs of Cheney, the neo-cons, Washington Zionists and their idiot front-man, Bush, can only lead to an increase in local/internal resistance - external fabricated threats will fade into the background as the new (home) front emerges - "their enemy is YOU!"

We are ONE.
