The K.I.S.S. Principle

For those not familiar with the acronym 'KISS', it expands to, "Keep It Simple Stupid"!
The KISS (K) principle was/is the most invaluable teaching/training aid in the IT industry, especially in the early days when people actually feared the 'complexity' of computers. Anyone who is confronted by an overwhelming amount of 'information' tends to lose themselves in a sea of confusion. Fortunately, a very bright and creative mind developed the 'K' principle for dealing with these situations.

Unlike Alexander, a fool contemplates untying a 'Gordian knot'

The untrained mind is apt to be overwhelmed by a multitude of inter-related and inter-dependent factors, I have not personally witnessed any exceptions to this rule regardless of high levels of intelligence and skill – in fact the more intelligent usually find themselves in the deepest pit.

The mind must be trained to sift through distracting factors and locate the core of a problem and rectify it in the shortest possible time – in that regard we are without peer in the industry/milieux, if I may blow the trumpet of our training team. Our early trainees are now trainers of trainers who manage the largest and most secure computer systems (clustered networks) in the world. [Thanks principally to the greed related idiocy of outsourcing!]

Our personnel now extend across the globe and function in a variety of critical installations and industries – again thanks to the idiocy of outsourcing. But that is another wonderful story unrelated to this very important short paper.

The people of the world today bemoan the circumstances that have been imposed on them by a tiny group of criminals yet these criminals remain free and in some cases continue to lead nations. These criminals function above the law in the most undemocratic, unaccountable manner imaginable. They are responsible for mass murder, plunder, the Iraq holocaust, global economic instability, widespread social oppression, the removal of regimes that obstruct their expansionism (Balkan crisis) and the concentration of wealth in the fewest possible hands!

These criminals extend beyond the public faces of leaders (placed in power) to the back/boardrooms of the largest Transnational Corporations and Financial Institutions on the planet.

The identity of some of these criminals is widely known; the rectification of the chaos inflicted on the world begins with apprehending known criminals and tracing their connections to those 'backrooms' in very private organisations. The people who rule the world are inherently weak; they survive on the principle of 'security by obscurity' but that is easily overcome by deliberate, sustained ACTION!

Applying the K.I.S.S. principle clearly and UNAMBIGUOUSLY identifies the following criminals, Bush and his neo-cons (illegal invasion based on LIES), Blair (infamous 45 minute attack capability LIE), Howard and a few of his ministers (aluminium tubing for uranium refinement LIE). They lied and thousands of innocents died!

These criminals are known and easily apprehended -- the 'KISS' principle begins HERE and ends with the eradication of the forces that sacrifice EVERYTHING to their pathological God of money. Real values must be restored if the earth is to survive!

It really isn't difficult to rectify the problems created by these criminals – obfuscation is only distracting static in situations that are blatantly obvious.

Where overwhelming, irrefutable evidence exists, the DISCRETIONARY PREROGATIVES of the people must prevail.

Restore sanity to the world.

Peace.
