

Osama Bin Haneef

Either Dr. Mohamed Haneef is the most cunning and brazen terrorist the world has ever seen or he's innocent of all the slurs and accusations levelled at him. Some of us with an attention span of more than a minute remember the Chamberlain case and the appalling behaviour of the local media at the time. For a brief moment Australia became the envy of Alabama, a truly worthy achievement.

Lindy with Azaria

Today, the hysteria and insanity of two-legged dingos, blood on the car dash (which didn't exist) but was 'detected' by a forensic (foreskin) 'expert' has returned to haunt another victim, Dr Mohamed Haneef.

The Chamberlains were eventually proven innocent but only after years of slurs and abuse capped by prison time for Lindy and ending in the ruination of the Chamberlain family. Only then was the mob satiated. The hallmarks of that case were straight forward, where no real evidence existed, create it; where times and stories didn't quite favour the police, make a few 'harmless' adjustments, people see what they've been led to see - reality has no part to play.

It may be feeding time! The Australian racist demon only rears its head when summoned by one versed in the black political arts of victimisation, false accusation and fabrication. The mob loves a scapegoat; guilt/'sin' must be exorcised from the tribe, externalised and carried away by the expendable dark-skinned scapegoat. Christian doctrine declares that an innocent man must carry the sins of others, even unto to death!

No social mysteries exist for professional analysts; mob behaviour is the simplest of all social behaviours to understand. So where to now my blue-eyed son, Bondi or Waziristan?

It's probably not worth mentioning the civilian death toll in Iraq is approaching 1 million and that 2 million have been displaced as a direct result of an illegal invasion that John Howard supported to the hilt. The world continues to struggle over a universal definition of terrorism; softly, softly, a definition may incriminate us all!

Company directors are rehearsing their lines for the approaching stock market crash; poor little people who were duped into mortgaging their homes and sinking further into debt in order to enter a superscheme that has already sustained huge losses. Is it terrorists who destroy the life savings of retirees and rob the little people while they receive wages in the tens of millions and NEVER expose themselves to financial risk?

There is no room for truth in this world; real criminals may face exposure! When the din of the mindless mob threatens to drown reason it's always refreshing to hear Peter Russo, Haneef's Lawyer, counter every slur and accusation levelled at his client with 'put up or shut up.' Yep, it's good ol' horse sense that wins out every time in a world lost in mirages, fabrications and mindless stupors.

Present real evidence and arrest Haneef or desist from slanderous innuendo and character assassination.

But there are more immediate concerns to worry about; hang on to your bank accounts and assets, suckers -- you're about to REALLY be TERRORISED!
