It's not over by any stretch. If global warming/climate chaos, GM food, or geological upheaval doesn't get us first then European social democracies will prove the superior model over laissez-faire grab it and run, American style capitalism. It's goodbye and good riddance America and no thanks for plunging the world into chaos and war. We do not need you nor do we want your form of 'freedom, liberty and democracy' dripping in the blood of innocent men, women and children. You can stick your poisonous system and vile ideology up your collective national arse!

Criminal moron

We have had enough incompetence, aggression, ineptitude, and brutality for a millennium - Yankee, fuck off! 'Go home' is far too nice an expression for murderers, criminals and thieves.

The world would derive a great deal of entertainment watching you (America) implode after sending you and all your colonialist military bases back to your own shores - WHERE THEY BELONG!

You gave the world a preview into the simplistic, inept and violent future you wish to bestow on the world - NO THANKS, we advise you to grow up or seek advice from mature cultures that do not behave like infantile brutes.

GO HOME and stay there or risk being razed to the ground by a world tired of your moronic, aggressive tactics.

"The war is won or lost before the first battle begins," and the last battle is the dumping of your currency and watching you go into a tail-spin from which you cannot recover - the costs and reward for insane, rampant, pathological greed and narcissism.

Let's see your God of wars, whoredom and gluttony save you now, most vile nation that you are.

There is nothing more to add except go to hell and leave the world in peace.

American leadership
