

Once were Aussies!

Gone are the days of real Australian leaders; only a few decades past Australian leaders threatened to close the American installation at Pine Gap because the Americans refused to share information or allow access to the site. The very colourful raid on ASIO ordered by the Whitlam government due to the reluctance of ASIO bureaucrats to supply information to the democratically elected Prime Minister is another memorable event. Even that miserable little Zionist, Bob Hawke, stated at the time of an official visit to Washington that Australia, though an ally and friend has its OWN OPINION and VIEW and that views of the respective nations were likely to differ radically at times –
WHATEVER HAPPENED TO AUSTRALIA AND INDEPENDENT LEADERSHIP?

Robert Gates

Enter John Winston Howard, the world's most cowardly and servile leader. Rather than burying all vestiges of Howard's cowardly rule, after his devastating defeat in the elections, the current Rudd government is following the 'tradition' introduced by the trembling, gutless conservatives.

The current Foreign Minister, Stephen 'kneepads' Smith, is following in the 'knee steps' of the former conservative leader, Howard – not a hint of Labor independence or real Australian leadership, just the loathsome subservience characterised by the former Howard government.

The world has now come to know Australia as a cowardly servile nation thanks to Howard and Rudd. However, let it be known that the many brave fighting Aussie men and women, who have served this nation well, are not forgotten by traditionalists and patriots.

It is hoped the current visit of U.S. Defence Secretary, Robert Gates, does not degenerate into the usual one-sided custard affair. It may assist Foreign Minister Smith if he replays tapes of former Labor leaders in action!

For Christ's sake, stop grovelling!

We know old habits die hard, Stephen, but try not to embarrass the nation – overcoming your personal fears is its own reward. And please take this opportunity to tell the yanks to shove their sub-standard Hornet jet 'fighters' up their star-spangled arses! We do not pay penalties for the folly of others!

If the yanks don't like it, you could 'subtly' inform them to look for alternative real estate for their Pine Gap installation and the other U.S. bases situated along OUR northern shores!
